REGULATIONS, STANDARDS & AWARDS

1. MDA Certificate– Medical Device Authority

It is a type of QMS to ensure safety and performance throughout the medical device supply chain.

2. Medical Device Regulations (EU) 2017/ 745

The EU Regulation 2017/745 which was enforced on May 26, 2021, in all EU countries, replaces Directive 93/42 EEC (standards EN 455 parts 1,2,3 and 4) and provides the requirement of medical gloves production, as well as the obligations of labelling and assessment of biological safety and validity.

3. PPE Regulation 2016/425, Category I, II, III

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE)

The new PPE Regulation EU 2016/425 now specifies three classes based on risk definitions:

- CAT I: minimal risk, self-certified.
- CAT II: risks other than those listed in Categories I and III; certified by an approved body.
- CAT III: very serious risks which may cause death or irreversible damage to health; certified by an approved body.
- Only the approved bodies may issue a CE mark for PPE CAT II and CAT III. The gloves may not be sold or used without a proper CE Mark.

Only the approved bodies may issue a CE mark for PPE CAT II and CAT III. The gloves may not be sold or used without a proper CE Mark.

4. ISO 13485 Medical Device Quality Management

ISO 13485 is an international standard that serves as a model for medical device manufacturers to meet regulatory requirements

5. Chemo Drug Test Reports (ASTM D6978)

The objective of this practice is to provide a uniform procedure for assessing the resistance of medical glove materials to permeation by chemotherapy drugs and to establish a consistent reporting of the test data.

HAND HYGIENE HAND SANITIZER & DISINFECTANT PRODUCTS

What is Hand Hygiene?

Hand hygiene is any action of hand cleansing, including:

- Washing hands with the use of a water and a soap or a soap solution, either non-antimicrobial or antimicrobial
- Applying a waterless antimicrobial hand rub to the surface of the hands (e.g. alcohol-based hand rub).

When performed correctly, hand hygiene results in a reduction of microorganisms on hands.

Why is Hand Hygiene so important in healthcare?

Effective Hand Hygiene is the single most important strategy in preventing healthcare associated infections.

What are some of the reasons for poor Hand Hygiene among healthcare workers?

- Heavy workloads - the busier you are the less likely you are to wash your hands
- Time consuming - there just isn't enough time to wash your hands as often as you need to using the traditional Hand Hygiene techniques
- Hands don't appear dirty - Bugs are there even if you can't see them
- Problems with skin irritation - frequent washing with soap and water removes skin lipids, and in some cases, causing dryness, skin irritation and damaged skin
- Poorly located sinks - if it's hard to get to a sink you are less likely to use it.

Indications on how to perform Hand Hygiene?

- Use an alcohol based hand rub for all clinical situations where hands are visibly clean.
- Wash with soap and water when visibly dirty or contaminated with proteinaceous material, or visibly soiled with blood or other body fluids, or if exposure to potential spore forming organisms is strongly suspected or proven, or after using the bathroom.
